Dear Gentlemen:

In the interests of public pension funds in the United States, and on behalf of those listed below, we are writing to request your assistance in identifying any publicly traded companies that are of concern to the United States government for doing business with, or having business ties to, entities that support terrorism or threaten U.S. humanitarian goals. As large institutional investors, we have investments in nearly every major public corporation and global financial marketplace. We need your assistance in identifying those corporations that are supporting terrorism so that we may ensure that we are not inadvertently acting in conflict with the foreign policy and humanitarian goals of the United States, thereby subjecting our members to excessive investment risk. Some of us have made this request previously and we reiterate it here, as we continue to face increasingly complex investment decisions.

The situation in Sudan is illustrative of the current landscape. Sudan is not only a federally designated terrorist sponsoring country, but is also embroiled in domestic conflicts in which the Sudanese government has engaged in activities that the U.S. government has identified as "genocide." In recent months, it has been suggested that companies that do business in Sudan may thereby be furthering or condoning the egregious human rights violations currently occurring in that country. Federal law imposes a broad trade embargo on Sudan, but not all business is prohibited. In addition, several state legislatures are considering measures that, in various ways, restrict investment in companies that do business or have financial ties with Sudan. We need adequate information to determine whether companies in which our public pension funds are invested are doing business in Sudan so that we, as fiduciaries, can make informed investment decisions.

It is our understanding that private entities have attempted to identify companies doing business in terrorist sponsoring countries, including Sudan. We believe, however, that the U.S. government is the only credible and centralized authority to identify, monitor, and report domestic and international companies that are operating in such countries and thereby may be acting contrary to U.S. foreign policy and humanitarian objectives.

Existing laws require your agencies to identify, monitor and sanction companies with business or financial ties to terrorist sponsoring countries, including Sudan. For example, in the case of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Congress has specifically mandated that it establish a process to identify companies operating in terrorist sponsoring countries and ensure that their activities and operations are disclosed to investors.

At this time, no comprehensive list or report of such companies has been created. Creation of such a list is a necessary first step in identifying companies whose activities may be contrary to U.S. foreign policy and humanitarian interests. Accordingly, we respectfully request that your agency, working in conjunction with other appropriate federal agencies and departments, publicly disclose the identity of companies that, by virtue of their business or business ties in terrorist sponsoring countries, are acting contrary to U.S. foreign policy and humanitarian interests, and that you report other information on such companies that will enhance investors' capability to make prudent investment decisions.

This is a matter of extreme importance to the Trustees of the undersigned pension funds. We hope that you will consider this matter with the same level of import that we have.

Thank you for your consideration.
